With Thirty-six Colored Plates after Water-color Paintings

By Prof. ROBERT RIDGWAY, Smithsonian Institution and National Museum,
D. C., Prof. A. GOERING, Leipzig, and GUSTAV MUETZEL, Berlin.

IN TWO VOLUMES.

MILWAUKEE :

GEO. BRUMDER.

Extracts from a Review in "SCIENCE" (Vol. VI., p. 32).

"The work contains no technical matter, the aim being to supply trustworthy accounts of the life-histories of the birds in their relations to man. Mr. Nehrling has the instincts and sympathies of a naturalist. He is evidently a botanist and a musician as well as an ornithologist, and his descriptions of bird life are generally woven in with pictures of shady ravines and forest glades or flowery dells where the birds and plants and landscape are seen together as they are in nature. His residence in widely separated localities—Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Texas and Florida—has enabled him to become familiar with a large proportion of the birds he treats. . . . Special emphasis is given to the economic relations and breeding habits."

"The illustrations, all of which are colored, show the birds in their natural surroundings, and are of two kinds: Plates of single species, mostly by Robert Ridgway: and mixed plates by Mützel and Göring. Some of Mr. Ridgway's plates of single species are among the most charming bird pictures I have ever seen."

"We take pleasure in commending the work to nature lovers, and particularly to the large and healthful class of out-door students of birds."

The work has just been completed. It consists of two Quarto volumes (size 9 x 12 inches) and is bound in full American calf, maroon, gilt edges. Price $11.00 per volume, $22.00 for the set.
